Hello to all my Loyal Locals,

With the holidays almost upon us, it's time to think about food and wine pairings.

This month's selections fit the bill perfectly. Maybe you're planning on steak or a good burger? Perhaps some Venison? Roasted or grilled lamb? Some portobello mushrooms would be yummy too. These dishes cry out for a nice Cabernet and the 2013 William Gordon Cabernet Sauvignon will not disappoint you. A two-time gold medal-winning wine with dark summer fruit, spice, chocolate, and cherry on the palate and a long lingering finish...I am salivating just thinking about this and you should be too!

Next up is the 2016 Peterson Bradford Mountain Zinfandel. Many of the best wines go well beyond flavors and aroma. They are a perfect example of a classic style that many would call traditional and non-interventional. Fred Peterson calls it their zero-manipulation style of winemaking, which just as it sounds, is the philosophy of doing as little as possible to the wine in the cellar, resulting in the best expression of the vineyard.

Perched at 1,000 feet in elevation, overlooking Dry Creek Valley, the well-drained, red-clay soils produce exceptional fruit. The 2016 has a sturdy frame and concentrated center core of fruit that opens to classic mulberry, white pepper, and hints of saddle leather and wild rose.

Try pairing this Zin with your appetizer course. Olives, salty crackers, peppery salami, and spicy nuts will taste good with this Zinfandel style as will grilled vegetables, baked beans, grilled halloumi, and caramelized onion for our vegetarian friends. Zinfandel wines also have a slightly sweet taste which makes them an excellent red wine to pair with dishes with a touch of spiciness. Zinfandel is a good choice for tomato-based curries, chili con carne, and beef stews. Of course, you can also just enjoy a glass of any of this quarter's selections while cooking :)

I'm pleased that so many of you have been taking advantage of our great case sales recently and our free shipping offer. Keep an eye on your email as we have a few more great deals coming your way soon.
